OUR PHILOSOPHY

Vocational Education is basically life and need-based education which can convert an un-skilled inexperienced and illiterate population into human resource. Vocational education means learning to change one's behavior to enhance the quality of life through work and values, without or along with formal schooling. If the learning through the vocational approach enhances self-employment and economic productivity of the people then the war against poverty can be fought and conquered in a constructive way.

Vocational Education can play a vital role to improve their standard of life and to help them participate in national development. Many countries like Thailand, Malaysia, Indonesia, Philippines have got a lot of economic benefits through Vocational Education (VE). So it has been proved that economic implications of Vocational Education are many, particularly for a country which has a vast population of adult illiterates. So the time has come for us to find out the role of vocational education in poverty reduction. We also need to identify measures to make VE more effective in poverty reduction.

SKILLING YOUTH TOWARDS BETTER EMPLOYMENT

Aims and Objectives of Vocational Education :

Provision of technical knowledge and vocational skill necessary for agriculture, industrial, commercial and economic development. • To give an introduction to professional studies in engineering and other technologies. • To give room for young men and women to have an intelligent understanding of the increasing complexion of technology. • Training and impacting of necessary skills leading to the production of craft man, technicians and other skilled personnel who will be enterprising and self-reliant. • Provision of trained manpower in applied sciences, technology and commerce, particularly at sub-professional levels. • To provide people who apply scientific knowledge to the improvement and solution of environmental problems for the use and convenience of man. • Restructuring the educational system at all levels to respond effectively to the challenges and managing the impact of the information age, and in particular the allocation of development fund to education at all levels.

Vocational Education is basically life and need based education which can convert an un- skilled inexperienced and illiterate population into human resources, formal education system, because of its rigid chronologically graded structure and inflexible nature excludes the poor from its advantages. In this circumstance as the alternative of formal-education (FE) it is very much necessary to evaluate vocational education so that we can determine the extent of its success and weakness at any stage of poverty reduction as it is considered the best way to bring about longer lasting socio- economic change and self development.

Benefits of Vocational Education : Vocational Education helps people in the better performance of their jobs as they acquire a great learning experience. Working professionals get a chance to hone their skills while making money. • Vocational Education is a sort of introduction as it gets employees ready for the workplace which comes in handy while performing various tasks. • Due to the nature of the skills it imparts, a student doesn't consider it a futility as compared to academic education. • Vocational education is the term itself denotes the students are specialized and therefore they have more chances of employment as compared to others. • Many students who are in a dilemma whether they should attend college or not, VE really opens a completely new door. • It makes an individual a responsible and independent whereas those who study regular courses lack in this sphere.

OUR PHILOSOPHY

The career of one's own choice is one of the major benefits of this education, a vast majority of people are caught in the wrong because they were in it for the sack of job, money, lack alternative and professional compromise whereas an individual pursuing VE is already pursuing his dream job. • This type of education is a great asset to the economy. Our government need not import foreign technician on higher wages as our own can do the required work. • Certain vocational skills acquired from vocational education teach students the importance of manual work. The physical labor done under certain jobs makes them strong, healthy, active. • Majority of vocational skills are applicable all over the world and these create employment opportunities in foreign countries.

Vocational Education develop the economy by the bridging the demand and supply gap with highly skilled workers. It also gives students the opportunity to take marketable skills from the classroom directly into the working world. • Better vocational education also attracts foreign investment and foreign exchange in form of a foreign working platform. • School dropouts and adults can also receive this type of education as it provides an opportunity to learn a skill and trade. There are many well-paid career fields in which a college degree not required. • Another benefit is that hands-on work activities allow direct application of acquired knowledge. • This education provides stable jobs as these are the jobs whose demand is never fulfilled.

Vocational Education programs focus on the acquisition of appropriate skills, abilities and competencies as necessary equipment for the individual to live in adapt to the real work situation and contribute to the development of his society.

It assists all young people to secure their own future by enhancing their transition to a lot of opportunities after school. Vocational education can be seen as an aspect of education which utilizes scientific knowledge in the acquisition of practical and applied skill in the solution of technical problems.

It is the process of acquiring attitude, knowledge, competencies relating to occupations in various factors of economics and social life. It has also been described as the education that prepares students mainly for occupations requiring manipulative skills and is designed to develop skills, abilities, understanding, attitude and work habits needed for useful and productive basis. This can provide employment for its recipients and important practical skill development program designed to equip persons of trainable qualities with skills that employers of labor want in the industries, in fact, it is considered as the launching pad for technological development.

It has been such an honor to serve Global Human Peace University and the students, faculty, staff, donors, administration and community partners. I have been inspired and energized by what I have learned and through our work to develop a collective vision for the future! This work was grounded firmly in GHPU's mission of educating the whole person, professional formation, and empowering leaders for a just and humane world. Throughout, they held fast our core values of care, academic excellence, diversity, faith, justice, and leadership. Based on these foundations, the strategic planning process generated a direction illuminating a sense of growth, innovation, responsiveness, and connection.

Our new goals center on enhancing existing programs and building new programs, increasing our focus and integration of global and international competencies and experiences, deepening our community engagement and intensifying our research and scholarship. Programmatically, we aim to enhance access to and responsiveness of our existing, quality certification, endorsement, masters and doctoral offerings. This includes increasing our online and hybrid courses through a systematic framework that endorses and integrates Ignatian pedagogy.

To extend student engagement with the world, faculty are developing and strengthening opportunities for greater community-based learning and global education through deepened and expanded partnerships, attention to intercultural competencies, and auxiliary learning experiences, locally and abroad. Faculty are developing new courses to increase access for a growing group of prospective students whose needs go beyond graduate-only options, as well as for alumni who desire additional graduate credentials and advanced degrees. This work builds on and expands resources to ensure high-quality community-engaged teaching, research and service opportunities for students and faculty.

HONORARY DOCTORATE

HONORARY DOCTORATE – PRINCIPLES & CRITERIA FOR CANDIDATE SELECTION

GENERAL PRINCIPLES :

• The awarding of an honorary degree is an important symbol in the life of the University. An honorary degree recognizes uncommonly meritorious accomplishments and activity, both in the academic arena and in broader areas of benefit to society, that reflect the values esteemed by a great university. Honorary degrees are conferred on those whose achievements are of such excellence that they provide, through example, inspiration and leadership to the graduates of the University. • In choosing recipients for this honor the University is also guided by the principle that in honoring individuals for their contributions, the University is also honoring itself by its association with people of such special merit.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTION :

The following specific criteria are used by the Honorary Degrees Committee in its consideration of candidates. The Committee's goal each year is to present a slate of recipients across a range of academic disciplines and non-academic areas of achievement. Honorary degree recipients, when possible, will be chosen to match the purposes of the Convocation at which the degree is to be granted. Those in category (a). will predominate if possible those in categories (b) and (c) will normally number less than half of the recipients in category (a) unless the Convocation is being called for a special reason

- a. The University normally will give preference to honoring individuals who have made outstanding contributions in the sciences, humanities, and professions in which the University itself is active.
- b. Recognition will be given to those whose exceptional accomplishments have contributed to enhancing culture and society in Canada or elsewhere in the world.
- c. The University on occasion will honor those who have made extraordinary contributions to the development of the University or the region or have achieved international standards of excellence.
